

Repository of course information on Moodle

Course information must be posted on Moodle for any courses you are teaching: course notes, tutorial sheets, marking criteria, student feedback, and links to additional resources (including to lecture videos in an accessible format for student access during normal teaching periods and for revision).

The University's Accessible & Inclusive Learning Policy requires staff to make materials available to students at least one working day in advance and most staff do this by posting material on Moodle, or revealing previously hidden material.

A course's Moodle site may be used by academic colleagues who may have to cover for your teaching.
